Hey Dan and Kate:

I just wanted to give you the head's up on this case. The defendant is now in federal custody. Due to his federal custody status, we are scheduled for motion to suppress and trial on March 30th. I am sending out notifications to both of you for the trial but I do not anticipate that we will be able to go to trial that week because we have to finish the motion first and then defendant has a right to 10 days for appeal. So the subpoena is for phone standby only and I will be in touch. Thanks and please contact me at this email or the phone number below with any questions.

Christina
